PATENT INFORMATION:

A patent application was filed in May of 2021 and is in patent pending status.

SUMMARY:

Smokitz is designed to conveniently hold smoking accessories in a portable airtight case. The outside covering is cloth that can be many decorative designs aimed at men, women or specific genres. The cloth wraps around a hard plastic shell that when snapped closed is airtight. It is a convenient size of 8" long x 3.5" x 2" deep.

Once opened, all of the smoking accessories that one may use are found inside. These accessories would include a blunt cutter, a blunt card, a grinder lighter, ashtray, a rolling tray and clips for holding the smoking material while using it. There are two chambers for the actually smoking material as well. These chambers are airtight and give double protection from scents being detected.

Keeping your smoking accessories “hands off” and away from curious eyes can be important whether it be children or pets. For security, it can only be opened by applying pressure in two areas that children would not be able to easily do.

You will always know that everything is there in one place for quick easy access. No more fumbling through a purse or drawer for small necessary items in time of need.

Show your style and feel a sense of calm knowing that important items are all together in one place but safely stored out of sight as well.

About the Developer

The inventor, Kiara Porties of Chicago, IL was frustrated by there being nothing on the market to easily keep your smoking accessories handily together. So she designed her own solution! Kiara contacted the Mars Rising Network and had a provisional patent application filed and had the invention refined so that she may see success with this great idea and turn it into a real product.

She is actively seeking a company that would have an interest in licensing the product for a royalty..
